Discipline And The Child

The problem of the wayward boy or the difficult girl is an age-old one. There are few families who escape it entirely in the course of a lifetime and in every community there are families in which it is an acute one most of the time until the children reach the age when they must fend for themselves without parental control or assistance.

Up to the age of adolescence, in most cases, the problem does not appear to be a serious one. While the children are quite young they are kept from serious harm apparently without great difficulty, because their actions and even their words and moods are subject to close supervision in the home and the school.

It is those years when boys and girls first experience the stirrings within them of approaching manhood and womanhood that the danger zone is approached. About that time the youth of both sexes are prone to retire within themselves, to make their own secrets, to draw away from parental control and, in short, to use a popular term, to live their own lives. They have emerged from the chrysalis of childhood and are eager to soar into an unknown realm.

All that is perfectly natural. The time comes when fledgling birds must leave their nests and the young must leave the home lair to fare forth "on their own." That is the most dangerous period in the life of bird or beast. Young and untried, without the strength and wisdom of their forebears they face a world full of terrors which they are not equipped to combat, except for such warnings as instinct may convey and for such lessons as they may have learned from their parents.

It is even so with the young of humankind. They, too, are launched unprepared into a world full of pitfalls, unless they have been equipped to face the dangers of life by parents and guardians who have been wise enough to train them with an eye to the future and have pursued this difficult task with understanding and sympathy.

A Difficult Task

And this task is not an easy one, but it is a duty which must be faced by every parent worthy of the name if the resultant product is to be a credit to the family, the community and the nation, and unless this is the outcome, parenthood can be written off as a rank failure.

It is a difficult task because every child represents a separate problem requiring special treatment and that entails careful study and much thought. Even though the educational system tends to press the youth of the country into a common mould they are not born alike and that is too often overlooked both by parents and teachers.

It is a difficult task because training is a continuous process from the time the child is weaned until he or she is ready to leave the shelter of the home roof and that means that methods to be adopted must be such as to trend always in the direction of the main objective, with such variations as may be necessary to conform to the age, the temperament and the individuality of each child.

As already indicated, the process of successful training commences at the outset of life. It is too late to begin at the age of adolescence. The confidence and understanding between parent and child which is so essential to successful training in the teen years has either been engendered or lost by the time that difficult period of life is reached, and if it has been lost by that time it is difficult if not impossible to recapture it.

All of this does not mean that the child must be mollycoddled, nor does it mean that he or she must be ruled by big stick methods. A sure method to turn out a misfit is to allow the child to do what he or she wants on all occasions and at all times. An equally sure way is to repress the child by harsh treatment.

It does not mean that punishment for offences is to be avoided. Children have a keen sense of justice and punishment does not leave a searing sense of resentment, if it is deserved, if it is reasonable and if it is made to fit the offence and if proper account is taken of motive and temperament.

Corporal Punishment?

Discussions on child training invariably lead to a review of the question of corporal punishment of children—to spank or not to spank. On this phase of the training problem it might not be amiss to quote here what J. D. Griffin had to say on the subject in a recent issue of "Health" in which he offered the following comment:

"What kind of people do we really want our children to become? The various measures we employ in child training are but means to this end. And so I believe it is perfectly possible to raise children so that they develop wholesome, vigorous personalities and become decent, efficient citizens without using corporal punishment at all. It is possible, but it is not without some danger. . . . The occasional spanking may actually be a healthy procedure. It clears the air and relieves pent-up emotional tensions. It frequently leaves the parents with the conviction that they have done their duty righteously. In any event such a procedure is usually far less damaging to the wholesome development of the child's personality than the oppression of continual nagging of parents."

The thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts, but they must be understood if relationships between parent and child are to be satisfactory and if the child is to be brought up in the way he should go.

Years Spent In Writing

Milton planned Paradise Lost when he was 22, brooded over it until he was 50, then spent seven years of blindness on its composition. Gray devoted eight years to his brief Elegy in a Country Churchyard. The Divine Comedy occupied Dante from his 30th year until his death at 66. Goethe wrote the first draught of Faust at 20 and finished the last at 80.

Fishing For Sharks

Zeus Gray's fever for fishing has led him to the point where he recently spent $3,000 for one reel. It weighs 37 pounds, is 15 inches in diameter, and carries 2,000 yards—more than a mile—of 54 thread line. He hopes to hook gigantic sharks, feet and longer, which he believes to exist in Australian waters.

A gallon of the average material of which the earth is made would weigh 55 pounds.

A Protective Measure

United States May Establish Twelve-Mile Zone In Coastal Waters

The state department, it was learned, is investigating the national defence value of establishing a 12-mile zone of territorial waters around the United States.

This extension of the present three-mile limit of coastal control was proposed to the department by Chairman Key Pittman (Dem.-Nevada) of the Senate foreign relations committee. He said officials had advised him the proposition was under consideration but that it was complicated by international questions, since the department would prefer to take the step with other nations.

"If we allow submarine and warships within three miles of our shore during a foreign war," Senator Pittman said, "some of our ships will be sunk. And we don't want war within three miles of our shore."

He said the proposal would have peacetime benefits also, since it would give the United States greater control over the Alaskan fishing banks. American interests there, he declared, are in constant conflict with those of Japanese fishermen who stretch their nets just outside the three-mile limit.

Announcing he did not contemplate offering any legislation unless the state department requested it, Mr. Pittman said the three-mile limit might be extended either by proclamation or by treaty.

The United States set up a 12-mile zone by treaty with Great Britain during prohibition in order to make rum-runner patrols more effective. That limit was agreed upon because 12 miles was about an hour's run from shore. The three-mile zone dates back to the time when a cannon would shoot about that distance. It long has been accepted in international law as the extent of territorial waters.

Alberta Road Plan

Expenditures Of $625,000 On Main Highways This Season

Dominion-provincial proposals for expenditure of $625,000 on Alberta's main highways this season have been approved by Ottawa, it was announced by Hon. W. A. Fallon, Alberta minister of public works.

The expenditures approved by the Dominion include $550,000 to be shared equally by Alberta and the Dominion to be spent on improving and surfacing highways in the central and southern districts of the province.

In addition there is $75,000, two-thirds of which will be contributed by the Dominion and one-third by Alberta, for mining roads developments.

Used Same Flag

The Eiffel Tower in Paris is 50 years old. To celebrate the occasion, the flag that was hoisted at its summit 50 years ago was run up. It was hoisted by M. Francois Carnot, who 50 years ago performed the same ceremony at the inauguration.

The Dominion of Canada supplied about 60 per cent. of the asbestos imports of Belgium, which is its fourth best market for the product.

Means Huge Saving

Great Britain Finds Fast Time Is Invaluable To Country

Although time-pieces of a kind have been known for about 2,000 years, the first being the sundial and the second the "clepsydra," a device like an egg-bottle through which water dripped, clocks did not come into general use until around the year 1700. But as man governed his hours by daylight and darkness there were world-wide variations of time, and even in the enlightened British Isles there was much difference and confusion less than a century ago, when the railways were being established their own times and only the railways operating on Greenwich time. The real inventor of regular times was the Scottish-born Canadian, Sir Sanford Fleming, chief engineer of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who propounded his scheme in 1878. It was not until an international conference in 1884 that his idea was universally adopted, and on this date the Atlantic five time zones were established and in Europe there are three—Greenwich, mid-European and East-European.

Daylight Saving was the invention of William Willett, London builder, who enjoyed a morning ride in the woods near his home in Kent, and regretted that so many people should be asleep when the sun was shining so beautifully, and retired indoors in the evening because of early darkness. He promoted his plan in 1908, but did not live to see it accepted, and it was not until the World War, when the need arose for conserving coal resources, that the British Government made it compulsory. Inauguration took place on May 21, 1916.

The idea is permanent there now, and it is estimated that the saving to the country during each season it is in operation amounts to $15,000,000. To that must be added incalculable benefits in outdoor exercise and health.

Total Sum Is Large

Federal Government Has Paid $345,861.770 For Relief In Nine Years

Federal relief distribution since the first relief act was passed in 1930 until last March 31 totalled $345,861,770, exclusive of loans to the provinces. It was shown in a report tabled in the House of Commons from the Dominion commissioner of unemployment relief, Harry Hersford.

Included in the total are many sums spent by Federal departments, but the larger share is made up of grants to the provinces.

Grants to the provinces of unemployment relief from 1930 to last March 31, were: Prince Edward Island, $1,261,116; Nova Scotia, $7,533,983; New Brunswick, $5,221,544; Quebec, $50,837,334; Ontario, $91,212,025; Manitoba, $24,134,629; Saskatchewan, $52,791,144; Alberta, $16,684,811; British Columbia, $24,268,668.

Appropriations to the Department of Agriculture under the various relief acts have totalled $28,026,087 since 1930, more than $21,000,000 being spent in 1937 when drought conditions in the West were acute.

BRITAIN STANDS FIRM OVER THE DANZIG QUESTION

London.—Leaders of the British and French nations gave unmistakable warnings to Germany not to march on the Free City of Danzig—Europe's No. 1 danger point.

In London Prime Minister Chamberlain declared Britain was ready to go to war over Danzig to insure Poland's independence and warned that "no more deadly mistake" could be made than for any nation to suppose that this country will go back on its promises.

In Paris, Premier Edouard Daladier threatened to increase France's already reinforced army unless the totalitarian states cut down their mobilized forces.

Both leaders expressed willingness to promote peaceful settlement of dangerous problems; but they left no doubt of their intentions to meet force with force.

Meanwhile it was reported that Ivan Maisky, Soviet ambassador in London, and Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax had made progress in clearing away any misunderstanding or suspicions existing between the two nations, and that the Anglo-Soviet and Anglo-French anti-aggression bloc, French anti-aggression bloc. Unofficial circles reported they were agreed upon general principles and some sort of alliance might be expected reasonably soon.

Mr. Chamberlain declared Britain's readiness to go to war over the free city of Danzig "if any attempt were made to change the situation by force in such a way as to threaten Polish independence."

In a speech before 6,000 women Conservatives at Albert hall, Mr. Chamberlain again disclaimed any intention of "encircling" Germany.

He also contradicted sharply Chancellor Hitler's assertion that "war against Germany" was taken, for granted in London.

Instead, he said, Britain was "as ready as ever to listen to the views of others but determined not to submit to dictation."

He declared his willingness under certain conditions to open the broadest sort of negotiations with Germany—economic or for disarmament.

Mr. Chamberlain said Britain's assurances to Poland to aid in resisting any vital attack on her independence—"are clear and precise."

In declaring this nation's earnestness in its efforts to construct "peace front," Mr. Chamberlain referred to a conversation with Leon Blum, former Socialist premier of France who visited London recently.

Blum told him, he said, that in the view of himself and friends "the only danger of war in Europe—a very real one—is if the impression should get about that Britain and France were not in earnest and that they could not be relied upon to carry out their promises."

"Britain and France have given pledges of aid to Poland, Roumania and Greece."

"If that were so," the prime minister said, "no greater nor more deadly mistake could be made. It would be a frightful thing if Europe were to be plunged into war on account of a misunderstanding."

These words were interpreted as carrying significance not only for Germany but also for Soviet Russia.

Court Etiquette

Demand For Books On Subject At Edmonton Public Library

Edmonton.—There has been a steady demand for books on court etiquette and presentation officials of the Edmonton public library reported, adding that at present they have not a single one left on their shelves.

The demand has come from people "just curious to know." Civic and provincial officials likely to be presented to the King and Queen here June 2 "are getting their lessons in private," one official explained.

Heaviest demand at the library recently has been for biographies of the King and Queen.

Dog Aids Police

Saultville, N.S.—Royal Canadian Mounted Police searching for a cache of contraband liquor near this Digby County village were led to the hiding place by the alleged owner's dog after they had given him the search.

Much Time Lost

Ottawa.—The Dominion department of labor reported the time loss of 1,361 man working days in Canada during April as the result of six strikes and lockouts involving 314 workers, was the smallest time loss in any month since August, 1930.

From Across The Border

Invasion Of United States Visitors To Greet The King And Queen

Winnipeg.—From the tip of the Dominion's chain of Great Lakes to the ponderous Rockies, empire flags and royal colors waved to-day along the royal routes King George and Queen Elizabeth will travel to be greeted by western Canada's populace and the greatest invasion of United States visitors in the west's history.

Mingled with throngs from northern Ontario and prairie cities, towns and villages will be thousands from Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota and Montana, where enthusiasm over the initial appearance of an empire monarch in the Dominion is steadily increasing. Private citizens have been urged to do their utmost in caring for the Americans because hotel space likely will prove insufficient.

City officials in Minneapolis and St. Paul have asked Winnipeg to arrange for their townfolk vantage points from which the King and Queen can be seen. Mayor C. W. Cox of Port Arthur, recently returned from a visit across the border with warnings that his home town could prepare for a huge influx from Wisconsin.

Winnipeg, where Manitobans from towns, villages and farms will gather, expects about 50,000 will cross the boundary by train, auto and bus. Regina, which figures on 100,000 persons pouring into town on royal visit day, estimates a large proportion will be from United States.

Mayor John Queen and Alderman John Blumberg of Winnipeg, after scanning requests and queries, left for the mid-west states to extend invitations and arrange to meet the demands which fall on the Manitoba capital when playing host to Their Majesties May 24.

In special stands being erected on the edges of royal procession lines, seats will cost as much as $5, according to present estimates. In Winnipeg from $3 to $5 will likely be asked while Regina's reserved areas are expected to call for $1 a person. Tickets for vantage points during the royal visit to Fort William and Port Arthur, May 23, have been purchased in Duluth, Minn., and other areas along Lake Superior for $1.50.

A choir of 150 Fort William school children will be heard by the King and Queen when they pause for three minutes before 10,000 youngsters at the lakehead and the musical program will include selections by the Duluth symphony orchestra of 90 musicians.

So that every citizen will have the opportunity to attend the memorable event, Winnipeg police have lent kindly hand in finding a special spot for 250 blind persons. Guides will describe the scenes as the royal party pass by and chairs will be provided for the elderly sightless.

Increase In Immigration

Largest Number Of New Citizens Came From United States

Ottawa.—Figures released by the immigration department disclosed the number of immigrants to Canada in the 1938-39 fiscal year ended March 31 totalled 17,128, compared with 16,645 the previous fiscal year, as Canada and relief fee crop failure should come out of the general taxes.

Of the total, 5,663 came from United States compared with 5,463 the previous year and the number from the British Isles was 3,873 against 2,972 while 1,368 were of the northern European races against 1,182. Other races accounted for 6,726 against 5,848.

More Persecutions

Prague.—Prager Zeitung, a news agency, reported wide-spread anti-Jewish demonstrations in Bratislava, Slovakia, and arrest of 50 Jews. The agency said "thousands of demonstrators" gathered to protest against "faint-hearted" treatment of Jews thus far.

Approved After Survey

New York.—The British Guiana survey commission sent to look over that country as a possible place to settle political refugees recommended that "trial settlements" for 3,000 to 5,000 "carefully selected young men and women" be started as early as possible.

Society Is Dissolved

Berlin.—Heinrich Himmler, chief of all German police organizations, ordered dissolution of the Catholic organizations called "The Knights of Mary," for "activities hostile to the state." The organization is affiliated with international Catholic Action groups.

Japan has 32,700 more government officials than before the war, and it will face the British public a mint of money, but Sir John still had a smile on his face when he left the Treasury with Lady Simon.

SOME CHANGES MADE IN ACREAGE BONUS MEASURE

Ottawa.—No political party in Canada, if it constituted the government, could obtain for western farmers a higher initial price for wheat in 1939 than 70 cents a bushel, W. G. Weir (Lib. MacDonald) declared in the House of Commons as debate on the amendment to the Wheat Board Act fixing the initial price at 70 cents proceeded.

Earlier, the house, without opposition, passed the acreage bonus bill through third reading. It is a companion measure to the wheat board act amendment and is designed to equalize benefits accruing to western farmers as between those obtaining good crops and those suffering from crop failure. It is the nucleus of a system of crop insurance.

"In looking over what other countries are doing for their wheat growers, I am bound to say Canada is doing pretty well," said Mr. Weir, after comparing wheat legislation in Australia and Argentina with Canadian legislation.

The government could not continue bonusing wheat without doing something for coarse grains without throwing the whole production in western Canada out of line, said Mr. Weir. To do so would be to induce farmers to produce more wheat at the expense of coarse grains.

Agriculture Minister J. G. Gardiner accepted several amendments to the acreage bonus bill at the suggestion of private members.

Most important change concerned the awarding of special assistance in areas of "complete crop failure." The base in this instance was broadened to include damage from any cause other than hail, instead of merely damage from drought or grasshoppers.

Then, it was amended to apply in Manitoba and Alberta where a minimum of only 100 townships had yields averaging not more than five bushels an acre, instead of 135 townships as originally stipulated and as will continue to apply in Saskatchewan.

While the suggestion was made the scheme should not apply to drought areas and thus place an unfair burden on the west of the west, Hon. Charles Dunning, minister of finance, rose to defend the bill as one of the most generous offers ever made the west by the government. The argument against including bad areas in the scheme was the same as was stressed when hail insurance was originally introduced.

E. E. Perley (Con. Qu'Appelle) contended the one per cent. contributory levy should not apply on low grade grains, from which the proceeds were small enough, but Mr. Gardiner pointed out the contribution was small and only a part of what the scheme would cost.

John Blackmore, Social Credit leader, said there were many municipalities in Alberta which never had a crop failure and should not be compelled to contribute to support of farmers in districts which often had crop failures. All western farmers paid taxes the same as all the people of Canada and relief fee crop failure should come out of the general taxes.

IT WAS A HEAVY BUDGET BUT THE CHANCELLOR SMILED

Sir John Simon, Britain's astute Chancellor of the Exchequer, carried a very heavy budget over to the House of Commons this year, and it will cost the British public a mint of money, but Sir John still had a smile on his face when he left the Treasury with Lady Simon.

OPERATES UNDER THREAT

and not from a special levy on western farmers.

Eventually, Mr. Gardiner said, the acreage bonus for crop failure might be handled on the basis of soil type areas instead of on townships. This was being attempted in the United States but there was not enough information on soil areas in Canada now. When soil surveys for Alberta and Manitoba reached the stage they had in Saskatchewan a change might be possible. The whole prairie farming area was now being photographed from the air and from the photographs maps showing the boundaries of soil type areas could be drawn.

Bren Machine Guns

Expert Says Manufacture To Be Carried On Efficiently In Canada

Ottawa.—Manufacture of the Bren machine gun will be carried on just as efficiently at the John Inglis Company, Limited, Toronto plant as at the Royal Arsenal at Enfield, England, George Gillespie, the company's chief engineer, told the public accounts committee.

Gillespie was, until last summer, a technical expert at Enfield but was released ahead of retirement in order that he might direct performance of the Canadian company's contracts for delivery of 7,000 Bren guns to Canada and 5,000 to Britain.

"I am confident rejections will be no higher here than they are at Enfield," he said.

Aeroplaes Banned

Calgary.—Col. David Ritchie, Calgary's chief of police, issued a statement that no aeroplane will be permitted to land or fly within three miles of the royal party during Their Majesties' visit here May 26. Visiting planes must avoid the city en route to the airport, he said.

House Will Not Prorogue

Adjournment To Be Made During Royal Visit To Ottawa

Ottawa.—A short adjournment of parliament during the King's visit to Ottawa, rather than a long adjournment over the whole of the royal stay in Canada is now the intention of the government, Prime Minister King told the House of Commons. He said it was clearly impossible to complete parliament's business in time for prorogation by the King but with elongated sittings could do so shortly after the King leaves Ottawa.

Alberta Oil Fields

Believed To Be One Of The Greatest Oil Centres In The World

Calgary.—Thomas F. Lee, construction engineer from Scarsdale, N.Y., told members of a service club here "you are sitting on top of one of the greatest oil fields in the world."

He said he believed Alberta was about to become one of the greatest oil centres in the world. He knew of no country with the potential possibilities of Canada, he added.

TABLE REPORT ON FINDINGS OF RADIO COMMITTEE

Ottawa.—Network broadcasting of opinion on current affairs should not be available for "commercial sponsorship," but more adequate time should be provided free for this purpose in the opinion of the common committee on radio, whose final report was tabled in the house.

The report, tabled by Chairman A. L. Beaulieu (Lib. Provencher), said that "the committee believes that the corporation's (Canadian Broadcasting Corporation) policies respecting broadcasts of opinion are designed to ensure the largest possible measure of fairness and equality of opportunity."

A great portion of the committee's 15 sittings was occupied in discussion of that winter's controversy between the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and C. George McCullagh, publisher of the Toronto Globe and Mail, over the corporation's refusal to grant Mr. McCullagh use of a national network to broadcast his own personal opinions.

In stating the committee's belief that opinion broadcasts should not be placed under commercial sponsorship, the report said this view was shared by the corporation.

"Your committee recognizes that the responsibility of controlling and co-ordinating all broadcasting in the public interest rests upon the corporation," the report said. "In this connection your committee wishes to express its gratification of a better understanding between private stations and the corporation, recently attained."

"Your committee is convinced that fairness in the presentation of controversial material can best be assured by means of any system of network broadcasting on a sustaining basis."

The committee urged consideration to be given to placing political broadcasts during federal and provincial election campaigns on a sustaining basis exclusively, with equitable division of time among the parties, and with network party political broadcast time between elections open to purchase.

A recommendation of last year that the license fees charged privately-owned broadcasting stations be revised on the basis of watt power was renewed, with the new scale to be made effective for the current fiscal year.

On the subject of receiving set license fee collection, the committee recommended that the regulation requiring a vendor of a radio set, before making a sale, to ascertain that the purchaser has obtained a license, be rescinded.

As a substitute for this regulation, the committee recommended that vendors be required to report monthly to the transport department the names and addresses of those to whom sets have been sold, with date of sale.

The committee renewed its proposal of last year that Canada should have a high-power short-wave station financed as a national undertaking but operated and controlled by the corporation. Canada was the only leading trading nation without such facilities.

Failure to take immediate advantage of short-wave broadcasting opportunities might result in the loss to Canada of the shortwave channels now registered for the Dominion and the consequent removal of this country from the short-wave field.

FIVE HUGE GRAIN ELEVATORS LOST IN CHICAGO FIRE

Chicago.—A series of blasts and roaring flames destroyed five huge grain elevators, wiped out all traces of eight missing men and caused damage in excess of $3,000,000.

The fire—most serious in Chicago since the $5,000,000 stock yards conflagration of May 10, 1934—raged for five hours before it was brought under control by 400 firemen.

Even then the heat from the charred ruins was so intense officials could not approach them to confirm fears eight workers had been trapped and killed in elevator "A" of the Rosenbaum Brothers Grain Company.

Eighteen men—13 firemen and five workmen—were rushed to hospitals. Eight of them were in serious condition. Fire Marshal Michael Corrigan estimated loss in property alone at $3,000,000. Uncalculated for the time being was the value of more than 3,500,000 bushels of grain stored in the structures.

An explosion, believed caused by dust, touched off the blaze in elevator "A" of the Rosenbaum firm in the heart of the city's largest grain district at 102nd street and the Calumet river. The roof of the building, 146 feet high and covering an area of a half square block, blew into the air. The shuddering storehouse became a geyser of flame.

Wood, metal, sparks and bricks rained upon employees scurrying for safety. Accompanied by muffled booms, like the rumbling of a volcano, fire burst out in elevators "B" and "C". The fiery tongues darted across a 30-foot wide alley and ignited two elevators of the Norris Grain Company. A quarter mile sector was transformed quickly into an inferno.

Two fire tugs and a half dozen pieces of powerful apparatus poured water upon the blazing skeletons while 50,000 spectators watched. Two barges, a dozen freight cars and five automobiles were burned or wrecked by collapsing walls.

The missing men were Ernest Barge, Albert Horner, Linn M. Keefe, Henry Krul, Louis Colberg, Charles Regasbus and Joseph Vedigh, all employees of the Rosenbaum company; and Ernest Luefgrun, a weighman for the Chicago board of trade.

W. H. Gassler, Rosenbaum superintendent, reported the board estimated the loss at 3,500,000 bushels of wheat and corn. Norris company officials said their elevators had a total capacity of 2,450,000 bushels but did not estimate the amount stored in them.

On Royal Train

Sixteen Telephone Instruments, But No Number Thirteen

Montreal.—There will be no telephone local number 13 on the royal train.

Ranging from more modest types to the King's personal gold-finished hand set, officials said, 16 telephone instruments will be carried by the 12-car train bearing Their Majesties across Canada. Thirteen locals, numbered from 1 to 12, and will permit car-to-car communications.

A special switchboard will be set up in the baggage car, and no workmen or officials will be on duty except at certain daytime stopovers. There will be six phone instruments aboard the pilot train, carrying newspapermen and officials.

Conscription Bill

Northern Ireland Excluded From Provisions As Well As Citizens Of Dominions

London.—The House of Commons approved an amendment to the compulsory service bill which excludes Northern Ireland from the bill's provisions. The vote was 261 to 21.

Other amendments tabled by the government made sure that Canadians and citizens of other dominions and the colonies are exempt from compulsory service, and give the government power to bring back from foreign countries all British subjects who come within the bill's provisions.

Decoration For Prince

Berlin.—Chancellor Hitler bestowed the grant cross of the German Eagle, highest German decoration, upon Crown Prince Michael of Roumania. The award was interpreted in political circles as a move to create pro-German feeling in Roumania now the country has concluded a trade agreement with Germany.

OUR KING VISITS CANADA

History was made when Their Majesties King George and Queen Elizabeth set foot on Canadian soil at Quebec on Wednesday morning, the first time in history that a British monarch has undertaken to visit the Empire's premier dominion and the American continent. That their visit is to be welcomed by all Canadians could never be so well emphasized than through the welcome accorded them on the occasion of their landing at the historic City of Quebec, their visit to the Plains of Abraham, and their tumultuous welcome in the City of Montreal, where it might be said hundreds of thousands of loyal subjects turned out en masse to greet them. Montreal's programme will never be forgotten. At least thirty thousand children grouped to sing the "National Anthem" "O Canada" and various popular hymns to show their appreciation and love for their Sovereign heads. Such welcome will follow our royal visitors throughout the Dominion from coast to coast, and in addition be carried onto the soil of our esteemed neighbor the United States.

For months to come the great event will be spoken and pictured as the greatest event in all Canadian history. The wish and prayer of all loyal subjects in this great Dominion will be for a safe and happy voyage.

The itinerary programme is being carefully followed by an able staff of press reporters and commentators, picked from the world's best. Briefs on this programme will appear in all weekly newspapers, while in greater detail the visit will be described through the daily press.

We welcome them and say "God Save Our King and Queen."

Fernie will be celebrating Victoria Day with a sports programme.

The regular service at Central United church on Sunday evening last was quite befitting Mother's Day. The pulpit was surrounded with beautiful flowers. The orchestra was in full attendance, and the junior boys' choir under the leadership of Mrs. Bannan, rendered two pleasing selections. A solo was ably rendered by Master Tucker, a member of the choir.

The Edmonton Chamber of Commerce has petitioned the Dominion government to disallow an amendment to the Limitations of Actions Act passed by the recent session of the Alberta legislature, under which provision was made that all actions to enforce payment of debts incurred prior to July 1, 1936, and becoming due before June 1, 1942, shall be started before July 1, 1942, and not thereafter. A similar amendment, with different dates, passed in 1938, was disallowed.

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Aid of the United church was held in the auditorium on Wednesday afternoon. Following the business session, a special entertainment was afforded those present, which took the form of readings, musical selections and singing by members of the Aid to honor "Mothers." The older mothers of the congregation were guests on this occasion, and were presented with carnation corsages. A delightful tea was served by the committee, which brought to a close a very pleasant afternoon.

NEWS FROM EDMONTON

(T. B. Windsor)

Edmonton, May 15.—The past week has been unusually full of front-page happenings, aside from the news from across the Atlantic and other foreign lands. In Alberta, the political scene is undergoing mysterious shiftings that may result in a "transformation scene" at any moment.

One thing has been made quite clear, Social Credit as an economic possibility and a political platform is to be a thing of the past, even in Abolitionist Alberta. In London the word came during the week that the "Social Credit secretariat" had folded its rings and slid into liquidation. And that spells the end of the famed Douglas system, if indications mean anything.

But the interesting feature to Albertans is that the spurious Social Credit of William Aberhart—If Mr. C. H. Douglas' description of it is to be believed—is also slipping fast before the march of common sense and political expediency into the limbo of things that have failed.

In a recent Sunday night address to 500 supporters in the Strand Theatre, Edmonton, Aberhart solemnly warned them to be on the watch "for our new democracy movement"—to be prepared to support it when it is announced.

During the same week significantly, John W. D. Herridge, accompanied by a hat advocate of any old freak economic or political theory, C. A. Bowman, editor-in-chief of the Ottawa Citizen, made a call in Edmonton on Premier Aberhart. Two days were spent in the Alberta capital by these two knights-errant of the new day, most of the time in conferences and consultations with Aberhart, and members of his cabinet. At least several hours were actually spent with the cabinet at the parliament buildings. Mr. Aberhart had a long talk with Mr. Herridge and Mr. Bowman at the MacDonald hotel, which was later described as a simple "courtesy call."

It becomes clearer daily that the 1936 elections in the Alberta campaign, Social Credit having proved lopsided and unworkable in a province, some other scheme must be worked up. Something else to secure votes must replace the basic dividend bribe of the Aberhart theory of Social Credit in 1935—the cure of poverty in the midst of plenty! Observers in Alberta are opening their eyes wide at the simplicity and naive tactics of the programme. They are wondering what will happen to the Social Credit crusaders of 1935 when they appear in 1939 on the campaign platform to tell the simple-minded folk, who were deceived by Aberhart as wearing gunnysacks for clothing and feeding on gopher meat for food, that their basic dividend dream of $25 monthly will not and cannot be realized?

It will take more gall and brazenness to get up and explain away 1935 promises and assurances on the strength of a mission from the Almighty than is usually found in the party politician. Remembering the shouting about "God's will and the People must prevail" that was heard before the election of 1935 and, in diminishing crescendo, through the last four years, one is reminded of the printer to whom a typographical error was pointed out in a proof copy of a religious work in which The Almighty was quoted. He said, "There were no spelling rules when Adam lived. God didn't spell like we do."

Now, the people of Alberta are to be told that all this dividend stuff, with just prices and interest-free loans is not to be realized in the way divinely inspired in 1935, but a change in the programme has been decreed, and the latest revelation is to be named THE NEW DEMOCRACY. We predict—even though it's dangerous to do so—the New Democracy will be just another will-o'-the-wisp. It may provide another five years of power for Aberhart, providing the people of Alberta are sufficiently blind to opportunism, but it won't bring any relief to the overburdened voter who supports it at the polls any more than did Social Credit.

Thousands of radio fans listened to the broadcast of the docking of the Empress of Australia and the landing of the King and Queen at Quebec on Wednesday morning. The reception was very clear.

On Sunday last the junior department of the Blairmore United Church Sunday school fittingly observed Mother's Day. The pupils presented a very interesting programme of dramatizations, recitations and singing, at the close of which each mother present received a small corsage of wild flowers.

The regular meeting of the local lodge of Elks on Tuesday night was very largely attended, including some sixty visitors from Coleman and other points. Seven candidates were initiated into the mysteries of Elkdom. Following the meeting refreshments were served and an enjoyable social hour was spent.

Locomotive of Royal Train Ready

Scheduled for the biggest job ever assigned to a steam locomotive, Canadian Pacific engine 2850, photographed at the Angus Shops in Montreal, is ready to haul Their Majesties the King and Queen on their 3,000-mile trip across Canada. The royal tour will mark the first time one engine has made a continuous journey of this length, and 2850's record will not be equalled on the tour. Specially re-fitted and decorated for the occasion the big Canadian Pacific locomotive is a mass of shining stainless steel, royal blue, silver and gold. The semi-streamlined engine bears the royal arms over the headlight which has been sunk flush with the front of the boiler-casing. Imperial Crowns decorate each running board; the crest of the Canadian Pacific appears beneath the window of the cab and, on the tender, the royal arms four feet high are blazoned in relief.

The general decorative scheme comprises a background of deep blue on the underframe, smokebox, front of engine and all marginal work on engine and tender. The sides of tender, cab and running boards are painted. Royal Blue.

A panel of aluminum leaf laid in diagonal squares matching the panel on the cars of the royal train extends half way on the tender. The panel is outlined in gold.

The jacket on the locomotive, handrails on it and the tender and other trim is of stainless steel. Gold leaf has been employed on the engine numbers.

Engineer Eugene Leclerc, of Quebec, who was fireman on the royal train in 1901, will be the first Canadian engineer. He has been in regular Canadian Pacific service between Quebec and Montreal for approximately 48 years.

Surrounding mountains were capped with new snow this morning. Rain has fallen for the greater part of the past twenty-four hours and was reported to be fairly general throughout the province.

John McDonald, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McDonald, of Macleod, will be among the graduating students in the Faculty of Law at the University of Alberta convocation on Tuesday, receiving the degree of LL.B. 1st.

Milt Ray is back on the job as Swift-Canadian agent on this territory, and his numerous friends are glad to greet him. Despite his illness of some ten months, he is looking fairly fit.

MUSICAL FESTIVAL
SHOULD REVIVE

Now that musical contestants from Cranbrook, Kimberley, and Fernie, in this end of the district, won such high honors at the Crows' Nest Pass Musical Festival held at Blairmore last week, many are naturally making enquiry as to why the East Kootenay Musical Festival should not be revived. Sponsored by the Knights of Pythias, the first festival was held here in 1931 and festivals were continued each year up to and including 1935, making five in all. These festivals evoked a great deal of enthusiasm amongst the many musicians and lovers of music, and the members of the festival committee of the Knights of Pythias are to be commended for the energy they put forth in carrying on the work during these five trying years.

The undoing of the East Kootenay Festival was no doubt in a large measure due to it being launched on too pretentious a scale. This was particularly true in the matter of choosing adjudicators. It was thought that high priced men from the Old Country would give the festival a better status, and prove a drawing card of greater magnitude. Guaranteeing an adjudicator $400 for three days' work dipped too deeply into the revenue derived from entry fees and the sale of tickets. It was like attempting to float an ocean liner in the Kootenay river—it just wouldn't work. Besides it was found that there were equally qualified adjudicators right here in Canada whose services could be procured for less than half that amount.

The solution to the problem would appear to be to conduct a festival under more conservative lines, more along the lines which have proved so successful in the case of the Crows' Nest Pass Musical Festival organization which has functioned so satisfactorily for fourteen consecutive years. Take a leaf out of their book, so to speak. Festivals held in Cranbrook during the years mentioned had excellent co-operation from musicians and teachers down in the Pass, and no doubt this co-operation could again be fully counted upon.

It is probably too late to arrange for the holding of a festival this coming fall, but one should certainly be lined-up for the fall of 1940. We have the vocalists, we have the instrumentalists and we have the teachers, and we have the promise of support from a wide outside district. With a little organization and team work the East Kootenay Musical Festival can be re-constituted and again formulated into a going concern.—F.J.S. in Cranbrook Courier.

ACCIDENT DANGERS
DURING ROYAL VISIT

An appeal to motorists to use extra care during the visit to this province of Their Majesties the King and Queen is being made by officials of the Alberta Motor Association.

This is a time, it is believed, when extra care should be taken to avoid accidents.

The volume of motor traffic on the highways is bound to be greatly increased, thus increasing the driving hazards. At highway or level crossings every precaution should be taken on account of the increased number of special trains which will operate to and from Calgary on May 26 when the King and Queen visit that city, and on June 2, when they visit Edmonton.

In addition to the train dangers, it is vital that motorists use every care to avoid collision with other cars or vehicles on the highways. Furthermore, thousands of little children will be on foot, accompanying their parents to see the King and Queen, which is another major reason why all motor drivers should exercise every possible precaution to avoid accidents.

A Holstein calf, standing twenty inches high and weighing only twenty pounds at two weeks old is reported at Brantford, Ontario. It is believed to be the smallest Holstein calf ever born in Canada.

INSTRUCTIONS TO VISITORS
TO CALGARY ON MAY 26

The following instructions and information has been issued by Calgary city police department for the guidance of the general public on the occasion of the visit of Their Majesties the King and Queen on May 26th:

Vehicles will not be permitted to park or stand on the Royal route or within one block of the route on the intersecting streets or avenues after 11 a.m. "No Parking" signs will be posted in prominent places along the route and on intersecting streets and avenues.

Persons will not be permitted to stand on the roofs of buildings along the route of the Royal procession. This is very necessary in the interests of public safety and to avoid damage to property. The owners and occupants of buildings are asked to co-operate in preventing people from doing so.

Persons will not be permitted to stand on Centre Street bridge or Louise bridge.

Persons will not be permitted to stand in 2nd Street East subway or on the Canadian Pacific Railway bridge crossing the subway.

All vehicles must be kept away from the vicinity of the Royal procession route.

Every facility must be afforded the children by giving them an opportunity to view the Royal procession, and adults are asked to co-operate in looking after the children.

Persons will not be permitted to stand on the south side of 9th Avenue between 11th Street West and 14th Street West. A clear view must be afforded Their Majesties of the Indian Village, which will be located on C. P. R. property at that location.

The public is forbidden to stand on the south side of Crescent Road on account of the steep cut bank, which makes it most dangerous.

The Central Committee and Police Department solicit the whole hearted co-operation of the public to assure the success of this most important occasion in the history of the City of Calgary by facilitating the movement of the Royal procession and the prevention of accidents.

Respect is urged for orders given by Police and Special Constables on duty for the day.

Entertainment features have also been provided for on Saturday, May 27th.

Special shopping hours will be afforded.

Report to Royal Visit Headquarters (Old Merchants' Bank Building), Centre Street and 8th Avenue, for further information desired.

MORE ROYAL VISIT NEWS

Friday next, May 26th, will mark one of the greatest days in the history of the City of Calgary. 200,000 people are expected there for the visit of Their Majesties. Extensive arrangements have been made to accommodate those people who will come to the city for the occasion. It is believed that hotel and room accommodation will be sufficient even for the huge crowd expected. Bleachers are available, and may be reserved by writing to the Royal Visit Committee in Calgary.

Many, of course, will not be able to come to Calgary, and so intricate arrangements have been made for a word picture of all the happenings. CFAC will combine its facilities with those of the other Calgary stations, CFCN and CJCJ, to broadcast the entire proceedings, and to "carry" the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's commentary from the Indian Display site. Pat Freeman, program director of CFAC, will be one of the commentators on this CBC "pick-up."

On the Calgary broadcast there will be 4 different microphone placements. One will be at the C.P.R. depot, which will carry a commentary of the arrival of the Royal train and attendant ceremonies. A "Mike," situated at the Toronto General Trusts Building, will pick up the Royal procession along Eighth Avenue to Fifth Street West. The parade will turn north to come back along Seventh Avenue to the City Hall. Another location atop of the Southam Building will carry on the word picture until relieved by the other "pick-up point" at the City Hall. A ceremony lasting about 20 minutes will take place there.

A tour of the city will follow. Leaving the City Hall, the Royal procession returns to Centre Street and proceeds up Centre Street hill to Eleventh Avenue. The Southam Building microphone will describe this part of the route. From there, the parade traverses the North Hill, returning by way of Tenth Street North West and the Louise bridge. They swing around past the Armouries, to the Indian Village—constructed especially for the occasion. Here a brief stop will be made as Their Majesties inspect a bit of typical color. At this point the CBC will take over for a broadcast which will be world-wide. The Royal train will leave for Banff at 5 p.m.

Tomorrow will be observed throughout Canada as the official King's Birthday.

Just this morning we overheard a poor fish remark: "Only twelve more days, boys!"

Lethbridge should be o.k. now. A treasury branch was opened there on Wednesday of this week.

A baseball bat was badly damaged when it came into contact with a boy's nose at Red Deer.

A meeting of the executive of the Crows' Nest Pass Musical Festival is to be held on Monday night next.

Eleanor, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gale, who had been quite critically ill, is reported improving.

Remember the Crows' Nest Sports Club dance to be held in the Columbus hall on Wednesday night next, May 24th.

Mr. and Mrs. "Billie" Porter, of Lethbridge, are visiting for a week with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Harmer.

It is said that a local tailoring house is constructing a pair of corsets to be used on a certain band member to bring his corporation down to fit the new band uniform.

"Somebody in Alberta is keeping building money out of Alberta and preventing money coming in for investment." The unluckiest kid in our schools can name that individual.

Abie intends to take off some fat during the summer months.

The Salvation Army tag day on Saturday last was quite successful.

George Ashdown, 87, pioneer business man of Winnipeg, died Sunday last.

David Bowman Young, of Bellevue, has been appointed commissioner for oaths.

Friday last, May 12th, was observed throughout Canada as National Hospital Day.

Jack Kerr came up from Lethbridge on Monday to spend a few days with Mrs. Kerr and relatives.

Arthur Blake was host to the dentist on Friday last, when his affairs were delved into about fourteen times.

Drumheller's tax rate for the coming year has been set at sixty mills, thirty-three of which are for school purposes.

John J. Blum, of Kaslo, old-time West Kootenian and well known throughout the Pass district, was a visitor to Cranbrook last week.

Word has just been received by Bob Harner that he has been successful in passing all seven subjects which he had taken at the University of Alberta.

Roach Oliver returned from Port Arthur over the week end, driving a new Dodge truck. Time did not permit him paying the intended visit to Nova Scotia.

Royal Bank branches on the prairie are giving out to farmer customers two very useful booklets entitled "A milk weight record" and "A farmer's account book."

Dr. W. H. Gearing, of Fishburn, whose wife passed away on May 11th and was buried on the 13th, on Saturday last received word of the death of his father in England.

If there ever could be a justifiable war in the name of and for humanity, a war against Germany to prevent the wanton persecution of a whole race would be completely justified.—Mahatma Gandhi.

Because advertising was not done through a newspaper with a guaranteed circulation, there were very few patrons from Macleod, Pincher Creek, Lethbridge, Cranbrook, Fernie and Michel at local stores on Saturday last.

The condition of the highway between Coleman and Crows' Nest is, to say the least, disgraceful, and only terms such as were uttered in a Calgary cafe recently, in hearing distance from our premier, could be used to describe them. Really, we'd like to see that big palatial limousine come down for a joy ride over it.

The members of the West Canadian Collieries' Band came out to display their new uniforms last night, when they rendered enlivening selections at the central bandstand and the west end. Following these two programmes, they repeated at the rotunda of the Cosmopolitan hotel. Tonight the band will render a concert at Coleman.

The body of Angelo Phillipozzi, who was buried by a rockslide in a Bellevue mine on Monday morning, was recovered about ten hours later. The remains were laid to rest at Bellevue on Wednesday. Phillipozzi is survived by his wife and a number of small children. An inquest was held, the jury returning a verdict of accidental death.

It has long been a standing joke, especially in rural communities, of the fondness ministers have for chicken dinners. At the big Methodist convention held at Kansas City recently, restaurant operators said the churchmen upheld the old tradition, and that the old story about ministers liking chicken dinners is no myth. They reported a decided jump in the amount of chicken, stewed and baked chicken and chicken with dumplings served while the Methodists were in town, and that other meats did not jump in proportion.—Ex.

Local and General Items

The Editor will be glad to receive items for this section, regarding visitors entertained, parties leaving for holidays or short trips, bridge parties, teas, showers, presentations, anniversaries, etc. Phone items in to 11 or hand them in at The Enterprise office not later than Thursday evenings.

There are comedies absolutely farce. Aberhart's is one of them!

They say that bachelors and old maids are unknown in China, where marriage is universal.

Coleman's sports' carnival on Saturday and Monday nights were well attended and successful.

Miss Margaret Baird returned last week from an extended visit with her sisters, Bessie and Beatrice, at Portland, Oregon.

Dick says: "There are—are—are souls in heaven, but not all—all—all of them. There are—are—are still some in Alberta." Abie knows it!

Brooks' Elks have voted $70 towards buying materials and building a complete playground for children surrounding the swimming pool.

Charles Backman, a Chicago aviator, is long overdue on his flight from Newfoundland to Stockholm, and hope for his safety has been virtually abandoned.

One of the famous seven Sutherland Sisters died recently at Buffalo, N.Y. But one of the sisters still survive. Back in the nineties, they exhibited hair that reached to the floor.

"Roads A-1 for Royal visit," said Aberhart on Sunday. Why not come up and try out the highway Pincher Creek to Crows' Nest, and resolve to relieve us of our sufferings?

At the institution of Council No. 1406, Knights of Columbus, at Cranbrook thirty years ago, P. J. Nolan, of Calgary; T. J. Moore, of Pincher Creek, and Dr. O'Hagan, of Blairmore, were present and delivered speeches.

The Upper Elk was invaded by a number of fishermen from this district last week end, all of whom returned with good catches. After a few practices up there, the boys will be experts when the season opens in Alberta on June 1st.

Premier Aberhart and his 56 M. L. A's have shown in better than three years that all they have is an empty dream. No practical steps have been taken to bring them any nearer their goal than they were three years ago.—Athabasca Echo.

The local Girl Guides made successful sale of their Day-Lite Sunscrisp Biscuits on Saturday last. The Sunscrisps are made expressly for the Girl Guides by the Independent Biscuit Co., whose factories are at Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Regina and Vancouver.

Very attractive advertising sheets of size about 11x16, representing various Coleman business concerns, were executed from The Coleman Journal office last week end. The business folk appreciate the appearance and note results from the printed sheet as far in advance of the mimeograph work.

It is said that Mr. Landeryou, speaking for seventeen Social Credit M.P.s, admits that he does not know what steps are necessary to bring about the reforms he has been agitating for the past three years. And we'll challenge anyone, even Aberhart, to show us. The whole affair will go down in history as the World's Greatest Joke!

Blairmore has a speed limit of twenty miles per hour, and it is very interesting to note the number of tourists passing through who absolutely disregard any limit. Daily cars can be noticed going through at speeds of probably 50 to 70, but it's usually the local district guy who is the goat for the penalty. They should be a way to stop speeding, and a driver, should be compelled to have a little regard and respect for every community through which he or she is passing.

Mrs. J. M. Windsor, of Cranbrook, was a recent visitor to High River.

Since the musical festival here, the Fernie city band has added ten new members.

The establishment of a government liquor vendor store at Yellowknife is promised.

The past two weeks have been observed as apple blossom time in the Creston district.

A whole lot of oil well drilling machinery and equipment in the Turner Valley district is being sold for taxes.

Had that plan of a factory-a-week been carried to success, people may have been in a position to laud Abie's treasury houses.

The Strathmore Standard celebrated their thirty years of continuous publication by issuing a special 24-page edition last week.

May 24th is to be celebrated at Fernie with a programme of sports, led off with a mammoth parade and concluding with a dance.

That term "Armageddon" is being abused up in Edmonton. One big bluffer in his dreams used to say this way: "That God, Armageddon rich!"

The Fernie city band has been invited to attend the next U.C.T. convention at Calgary and the opening of the civic airport at Lethbridge.

The Drumheller Miners have been given a month to decide whether their team will line up with the Alberta Senior Hockey League next season.

The Crows' Nest Pass Coal Company are erecting a battery of ten by-product ovens at Michel, which it is hoped will be in operation this fall.

We think that the Blairmore musical festival is the biggest thing musically between Calgary and Vancouver—and no fooling. — Fernie Free Press.

A local young fellow is boasting he kissed forty co-eds at a dance in eight minutes, but Jack would rather kiss eight girls five minutes each for forty minutes.

"Ken," an American magazine which was recently banned for a scurrilous attack on King George and Queen Elizabeth, is permitted again to enter Canada.

Clem Stubbs had the misfortune to have a thumb crushed at Coal Creek last week, but was somewhat consoled over winning ten pounds in a sweepstake the next day.

According to one of our daily papers, the Blairmore baseball diamond is to be sacrificed immediately. What was meant, of course, was "scarified," which is entirely different.

Blairmore Sports Association will again sponsor a field programme on Dominion Day, when general athletic events, including softball, baseball and football will be featured.

Over 130 citizens of Fernie—boys, girls, men and women—took part in the recent musical festival at Blairmore. Miss Douglas brought down 73 contestants and Mr. Vernon over 60.

Hon. J. C. Bowen, Lieutenant-governor of Alberta; L. W. Brockington, K.C., Winnipeg, formerly of Calgary, and Hon. C. R. Mitchell, were honorees by the University of Alberta by having conferred upon them the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

High River didn't promise a baby a day, but they produced them. Aberhart did promise a factory a week—and, oh my gosh! The same, probably, may be said of dividends. Every child is a dividend worth a million times more than the dividends promised and so far paid out by our government. May be the little child shall eventually lead them.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Battrum, of Calgary, spent several days at Pincher Creek during the week, where Mr. Battrum was busy auditing affairs of the Separate School District.

The Maple Leaf Mine No. 4 at Amherst, N.S., has been closed definitely. It was one of the largest coal producers in the River Hebert district, but lost $28,000 last year.

"Proper pasteurization of milk destroys the germs of tuberculosis, septic sore throat, and other like communicable diseases."

A Toronto clinical investigation shows:

"Of 100 samples of pooled raw milk, 26 yielded tubercle bacilli. Of the 100 of the same milk pasteurized, none showed tubercle bacilli."

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company say in their pamphlet on milk:

THINGS TO REMEMBER ABOUT MILK:

1. It is one of the most important items of diet.
2. Pasteurized milk is the safest.
3. It should be bought in a sealed bottle.
4. It should be kept cold, clean and covered.
